

New Guidance to the Rules for Mobile Offshore Units

Gard launches a new niche publication to provide increased clarity around how P&I insurance for mobile offshore units works in practice.

Published 04 May 2023

The information provided in this article is intended for general information only. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information at the time of publication, no warranty or representation is made regarding its completeness or timeliness. The content in this article does not constitute professional advice, and any reliance on such information is strictly at your own risk. Gard AS, including its affiliated companies, agents and employees, shall not be held liable for any loss, expense, or damage of any kind whatsoever arising from reliance on the information provided, irrespective of whether it is sourced from Gard AS, its shareholders, correspondents, or other contributors.

The new publication, Guidance to the Rules for Mobile Offshore Units, adds to Gard's already extensive portfolio of knowledge-sharing material and insurance publications, which includes the standard Guidance to the Rules, the newly revised Guidance on Stowaways, and others.

The insurance terms for mobile offshore units naturally reflect the special characteristics and risks pertaining to such operations. With this in mind, we hope the new Guidance will contribute to increased clarity and contract certainty as well as further interest both externally and internally about how our insurance is intended to work. The publication will be updated yearly depending on changes in the underlying standard terms of cover.

The new Guidance is published to coincide with the 50th anniversary of Gard's involvement with P&I insurance of mobile offshore units which will be celebrated later this year. In fact, Gard's publication program as a whole also celebrates its 50th anniversary. The first edition of the Gard Handbook on P&I Insurance was published in 1972.

The new publication is available in both a web version and pdf format.

The information provided in this article is intended for general information only. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information at the time of publication, no warranty or representation is made regarding its completeness or timeliness. The content in this article does not constitute professional advice, and any reliance on such information is strictly at your own risk. Gard AS, including its affiliated companies, agents and employees, shall not be held liable for any loss, expense, or damage of any kind whatsoever arising from reliance on the information provided, irrespective of whether it is sourced from Gard AS, its shareholders, correspondents, or other contributors.