

Defence cover

Supporting owners, operators, charterers and traders with a comprehensive insurance and service package tailored to meet their needs in day to day operations.

Providing the widest range of risk solutions

In a world of increasing complexity, Gard's objective is to help our Members and clients manage the totality of their exposures - both to existing and developing risks.

As a multi-line insurer – with the strongest rating in the marine market – Gard is uniquely positioned to understand how risks fit together, and identify the best choice of products, ensuring seamless coverage and service.

Innovation has always been a cornerstone of Gard's business model and, over the years, we have refined and extended our standard products and introduced a range of additional products, responding to special needs and requirements from different parts of the marine industry.

Gard's Defence cover insures shipowners and charterers for legal and other costs incurred in establishing and defending claims arising out of the commercial operation of a ship or a Mobile Offshore Unit where these risks are not covered by any other marine insurance such as P&I or Hull & Machinery.

Defence cover also offers our Members and clients access to “best in class” Defence claims handling and legal advisory services from our dedicated team of specialized Defence lawyers.

Further information can be found on our webpage (www.gard.no) under “Products”, or from your usual contact.

Defence cover for disputes in relation to the operation of a ship

Gard's standard Defence cover responds to a wide range of commercial disputes related to the operation of an entered ship.

Defence covers legal and other costs for the multitude of disputes that can arise under shipping contracts, such as contracts of affreightment, charterparties and bills of lading. These include disputes relating to:

- The loading, stowing, trimming or discharge of the cargo.
- The loss of, damages to, and delays suffered by, a ship.
- Property damage, personal injury or loss of life.
- Repairs or deliveries to a ship.
- Ship agency or brokerage.
- Delay of the ship.

Defence cover is also available for claims that do not relate to a contract.

Defence cover and support extends to arresting assets to secure claims and the enforcement of arbitration awards or judgements obtained on our Members' and clients' behalf.

With one of the largest and most experienced teams of specialized Defence lawyers of any club in the International Group, we are able to offer excellent claims handling support and legal advisory services to our Defence Members and clients.

Defence cover for the modification or sale of a ship

Defence cover for legal and other costs is available for disputes that arise in relation to the sale of an entered Ship, or its conversion, including claims related to the future employment of the ship being converted.

These kinds of disputes can be complex and technical. Gard's Defence lawyers understand the issues and are able to draw on our extensive inhouse technical expertise to assist.

Pre-delivery Defence cover

Gard's Pre-delivery Defence cover responds to pre-delivery disputes that arise in connection with the building, purchase or mortgaging of a ship.

Typical pre-delivery disputes relate to whether the ship meets the agreed build specifications or whether the ship is delivered on time. Further, we often see disputes concerning terms of payment and mortgage arrangements.

Gard's Defence lawyers are experienced in the handling of these kind of disputes and we stand ready to assist.

Extended Defence cover for cargo owners/traders and under contracts of affreightment (COAs)

Extensions to Gard's standard Defence cover are available - to meet the more specific needs of our Members and clients.

We can offer Extended Defence cover for disputes arising under contracts of affreightment where a ship has not been nominated.

Extended Defence cover is also available to our clients in their capacity as cargo owners whilst the cargo is being carried on, or is being loaded or discharged from, a ship.

Extended Defence cover can further be provided to our trader clients responding to freight, laytime, dispatch and/or demurrage disputes under sale contracts, as well as loading, lightering, trimming or discharge of cargo and agency disputes.

Tailor made extensions can be arranged where appropriate. Please contact your underwriter.

Benefit from the team's knowledge and expertise

We have a very senior legal team. They know the business and will focus on the important legal and practical issues that need to be addressed.

Negotiation strategies, early neutral evaluation and in-house mediation service

- Gard is committed to sustainable business practices. We recognize that durable and constructive working relationships with key stakeholders are key to resolving disputes in the most beneficial way for our Members and clients.
- Gard's Defence lawyers often assist our Members and clients to negotiate outcomes to disputes that suit their underlying interests whilst preserving important business relationships. Our focus is always on the early identification of issues and achieving a constructive dialogue based on the merits of the particular dispute. This approach is sensitive to our Members' and clients' market reputation and makes it easier for them to maintain important business relationships even though there is a dispute.
- Gard is an advocate of early neutral evaluation and mediation as powerful problem-solving tools. Our Defence lawyers are familiar with these processes and can provide practical advice and advocacy support to help our Members and clients to get the most out of them.

- In certain cases, we are able to provide early neutral evaluation or mediation services in-house through one of our senior Defence lawyers or qualified mediators who are not involved in handling the dispute for either of the parties. The saving of claims costs, and the preservation of reputation and commercial relationships, can be of significant benefit Gard's Members and clients.

Market developments and legal education services

- At Gard we understand that remaining relevant to our Members' and clients' business requirements requires us to stay up to date with the latest industry developments.
- Our extensive market coverage puts us in a unique position to identify market developments and trends at an early stage.
- Gard's Defence lawyers are often involved in preparing alerts and articles for our Members and clients.
- They are also frequent speakers at Gard and industry workshops and seminars. Bespoke legal workshops and seminars can be given to Gard Defence Members and clients on request.
- Lately, the increased focus on sustainable shipping in our industry has triggered a number of new hot topics where we now systematically develop our knowledge and experience. Some of the recent disputes we have supported relate to crew changes under the pandemic, green recycling of ships and clean/dual fuel technology, war against Ukraine and Red Sea transits.
