

Company News

Fraudulent email

A small number of Members have reported receiving an email, purportedly from Gard, which begins

Published 21 February 2017

The information provided in this article is intended for general information only. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information at the time of publication, no warranty or representation is made regarding its completeness or timeliness. The content in this article does not constitute professional advice, and any reliance on such information is strictly at your own risk. Gard AS, including its affiliated companies, agents and employees, shall not be held liable for any loss, expense, or damage of any kind whatsoever arising from reliance on the information provided, irrespective of whether it is sourced from Gard AS, its shareholders, correspondents, or other contributors.

“Dear Member, We are pleased to send the attached documents to you. The report highlights some of the ongoing efforts of DFA...”

This mail is not from Gard, and is likely to be a “phishing” scheme. We remind all Members and clients to carefully examine the sender’s email address, making sure that the message comes from the gard.no domain. If in doubt, please contact customer.experience@gard.no.

The information provided in this article is intended for general information only. While every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information at the time of publication, no warranty or representation is made regarding its completeness or timeliness. The content in this article does not constitute professional advice, and any reliance on such information is strictly at your own risk. Gard AS, including its affiliated companies, agents and employees, shall not be held liable for any loss, expense, or damage of any kind whatsoever arising from reliance on the information provided, irrespective of whether it is sourced from Gard AS, its shareholders, correspondents, or other contributors.