JUMBY BAY ISLAND

ISLAND DELIGHTS EXPERIENCES

Fall / Winter 2026–2027 | By Invitation Only

Jumby Bay Island, Antigua – September 2026 – As a new season unfolds, Jumby Bay Island presents the next chapter of Island Delights Experiences: a series of experiences designed to be discovered together. Rooted in the island's natural beauty, conservation legacy and family spirit, each experience is created to surprise and delight, engaging guests of every generation.

Each experience offers a different way to engage with the island. Families encounter the relationship between hawksbill turtles and coral reefs through an exclusive collaboration with LOVE BRAND & Co.; young explorers follow Pearl's journey through the island's ecosystems and conservation work; and guests discover Antigua's light, colour and natural forms alongside artist Gilly Gobinet. At Coco Beach, private padel sessions bring movement and shared play into estate life, while Gin & Golf pairs a relaxed swing with bespoke botanical cocktails at golden hour.

Season: Fall/Winter 2026–2027
Location: A private island between known worlds (Coordinates provided upon acceptance)
What to Bring: An open heart, barefoot readiness to feel sand between your toes, comfortable clothes for movement between ocean and earth, and the mindfulness of living in the moment.

This philosophy takes shape through Island Delights Experiences, a carefully curated expression of Jumby Bay Island's way of life. At its heart is Coral Turtles, an exclusive, limited-edition collaboration with purposeful beachwear brand LOVE BRAND & Co. Inspired by the work of the Jumby Bay Hawksbill Project and the island's coral restoration project with AnuBlue, the capsule unites hawksbill turtles and coral reefs in a single, distinctive print.

Across the island, this spirit is expressed in many forms. A New Generation of Island Guardians invites young explorers and their families to follow Pearl's journey through the island's ecosystems and conservation work, while Painting Jumby Bay Island with Gilly encourages guests to pause, observe and interpret the landscape through an artist's eyes. At Coco Beach, private padel sessions bring movement and shared play into the rhythm of estate life, while Gin & Golf pairs a relaxed swing with bespoke botanical cocktails at golden hour. Together, the experiences invite guests of every generation to discover Jumby Bay Island through conservation, creativity, movement and time beautifully spent together.

EXPERIENCES THAT DEFINE A SEASON

Jumby Bay Island and LOVE BRAND & Co.

Coral Turtles: A Conservation Story for Every Generation

Launching October 2026 | Exclusively at the Jumby Bay Island Boutique

Jumby Bay Island and purposeful beachwear brand LOVE BRAND & Co. unveil an exclusive collaboration inspired by the island's hawksbill turtle conservation and coral restoration efforts. Launching in October 2026 as part of The Island Delights Experiences Fall/Winter 2026–2027, the limited-edition capsule brings together the work of the Jumby Bay Hawksbill Project and the island's coral restoration project with AnuBlue, celebrating the vital connection between hawksbill turtles and the reefs that sustain them.

Created exclusively for Jumby Bay Island, the Coral Turtles print features hand-drawn swimming turtles formed from intricate pieces of coral. The design celebrates the close relationship between hawksbill turtles and the Caribbean's vibrant reef ecosystems. Appearing across a considered selection of swimwear and resort wear, the print invites families to connect with the island's conservation story.

Conceived with the whole family in mind, the collection reflects the multi-generational spirit that has long defined life on the island. Shared between parents and children, each piece becomes part of the memories and rituals of a Caribbean escape while carrying forward a conservation legacy built over decades.

Guests reserving a private Villa stay during January or February will find a thoughtfully curated beach gift tailored to their family. Featuring an assortment of iconic pieces in a range of sizes, the gift brings a personal touch of the shore into each Villa and inspires memories to be shared across generations.

The collection launches exclusively at Jumby Bay Island in October 2026, with exclusive access available from August for guests wishing to pre-order ahead of their Caribbean escape.

Padel at Coco Beach

A Private Court, A Shared Island Ritual
Available to Guests of Coco Beach | By Private Arrangement

At Coco Beach, padel becomes part of the rhythm of private-island living. Set within more than five acres of direct beachfront, the estate's private court creates an exceptional setting for families and friends to move, play and reconnect, surrounded by tropical gardens and the privacy of one of Jumby Bay Island's most remarkable estates.

An experienced padel instructor joins guests on the court for personalised lessons and clinics, tailoring each session to individual ability and pace. Those discovering the sport are introduced to its fundamentals, while seasoned enthusiasts refine their footwork, positioning and strategy at the net. Families and friends can learn together before bringing their new skills into a private match of their own.

Beyond the court, the experience flows naturally into the pleasures of Coco Beach. A morning session can be followed by breakfast overlooking the water and a swim from the estate's secluded stretch of shore. Later in the day, guests might return for another match before cooling off in the 70-foot infinity pool and gathering for sunset drinks on the rooftop terrace.

Reserved exclusively for guests staying at Coco Beach, the experience offers a compelling new way to enjoy the privacy and freedom of the estate, bringing movement, connection and a little shared energy to days shaped entirely around those sharing them.

Guests are invited to enquire about reserving Coco Beach and arranging private instruction as a bespoke addition to their stay.

A New Generation of Island Guardians

Fall/Winter 2026–2027 | Across Jumby Bay Island

Conservation becomes an adventure when a character gives it a face and a map transforms it into a journey. This immersive experience invites young explorers and their families into an imaginative world inspired by the ecosystems, migration routes and restoration work that shape Jumby Bay Island.

Guided by illustrated maps and a trail of clues, families explore the car-free island at their own rhythm, discovering the coral nursery, turtle nesting areas, The Farm, Bird Island and the marine habitats surrounding its shores.

The journey follows Pearl, a hawksbill turtle whose migration connects Jumby Bay Island with Panama, while revealing how coral fragments are nurtured and why healthy reefs are essential to the creatures that depend on them. Along the way, families encounter marine scientists, nesting turtles and the colleagues and guests who contribute to the island's conservation efforts, while discovering how marine research, coral care and shared stewardship support the island's vibrant ecosystems.

Parents and grandparents become part of the adventure, helping young explorers interpret maps, solve clues and share discoveries. By the end of the journey, conservation comes to life as a living island story, inviting guests of every generation to recognise their own connection to the natural world.

Painting Jumby Bay Island with Gilly

The Art of Seeing, Shared Across Generations

October 2026 Kickoff | Fall/Winter 2026–2027

Painting Jumby Bay with Gilly invites guests to pause and discover the island through the eyes of Gilly Gobinet, one of Antigua's best-known artists. Entirely self-taught, Gilly has called Antigua home since 1984. Her background in biological sciences and nature conservation continues to shape the way she observes the Caribbean's birds, flowers, marine life and tropical landscapes.

"My scientific training taught me how to observe: painting taught me how to see," said Gilly.

With her guidance, guests are encouraged to notice how light moves across the water, how the colours of the landscape change throughout the day, and how the smallest natural detail can become the beginning of a painting. Each participant is then invited to translate a personal impression of Jumby Bay onto canvas, whether they are an experienced painter or meeting a blank page for the first time.

Champagne and canapés accompany the session as conversation and creativity unfold. The experience offers more than an introduction to painting: it is an opportunity to see the island differently and to create a personal record of light, place and memory.

By sharing the perspective she has developed over nearly four decades in Antigua, Gilly passes on more than artistic technique. She invites another generation to remain curious, look closely and recognise the beauty held within the island's natural world.

Where stories are carried, clues are followed, and island light is remembered by hand.

Gin & Golf

Golden Hour at the Island's 19th Hole

Fall/Winter 2026–2027 | By the Pool

At golden hour, the poolside becomes the setting for one of Jumby Bay Island's most distinctive rituals. With the Caribbean horizon ahead, guests take their place at the island's 19th hole for an experience that brings together the precision of golf and the pleasure of a sunset cocktail.

Each shot is played using purpose-made golf balls crafted from fish food and created specifically to be struck into the sea. Sent across the water with every swing, they introduce a thoughtful connection to the marine world below while transforming the Caribbean itself into an unforgettable practice ground.

As guests refine their swing against the changing light, bartenders prepare bespoke botanical gin cocktails nearby. Fresh island flavours, carefully selected garnishes and tonic poured over ice come together in drinks tailored to the moment, served as the sky begins its transition from gold to dusk.

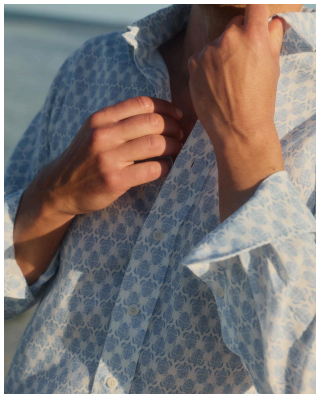

Gin & Golf finds its rhythm in the balance between concentration and conversation: a well-played shot, a cocktail prepared to order and time shared beside the water. At Jumby Bay Island, the 19th hole arrives with the sunset.

ABOUT THE COLLECTION

"Island Delights Experiences brings together what lies at the heart of Jumby Bay Island: a deep connection to nature, a strong sense of family and the freedom to discover the island in ways that feel personal and purposeful. Through conservation, creativity, movement and shared discovery, guests are invited to engage more closely with the people, places and traditions that give the island its distinctive character," said Marinette Giaquinta.

This season, guests can wear the island's conservation story through Coral Turtles; follow Pearl's journey across its natural landscapes; translate Antigua's light and colour onto canvas alongside Gilly Gobinet; take to the private padel court at Coco Beach; and gather at the poolside 19th hole for Gin & Golf as daylight turns to dusk.

Together, these experiences express Jumby Bay Island's signature balance of barefoot elegance, meaningful discovery and time beautifully spent together. Each offers a different way into island life, grounded in its natural beauty, conservation legacy and family spirit, and shared side by side by guests of every generation.
